PREFACE.

The work of writing out the Registers of a populous parish for two hundred years has been greatly lightened by the kind sympathy and encouragement of many friends who have, themselves, done similar work, or who take an interest in the preservation of historical records. To John Sykes, Esq., of Doncaster, most grateful thanks are given by "another pupil," for the advice and information which would, otherwise, have been unattainable. By the kindness of his Grace the Lord Archbishop of York, and of H. A. Hudson, Esq., a search was made in the Registry Office at York, and thereby, more than three thousand fresh entries were obtained, to make the whole work more perfect and reliable. To Mr. John Dickons, Head Clerk of the office, many thanks are due for his unfailing courtesy and attention during the three weeks' time of search. To all who have kindly helped her, in any way, in the work, grateful acknowledgments are tendered by

INTRODUCTION.

In publishing the Parish Registers of Kirkburton from 1541 to 1754, a few notes on the ecclesiastical and civil history of the place, prior to the commencement of the Registers, are now recorded; taking Dr. Morehouse's excellent History of Kirkburton as the perfect structure to which a few internal fittings are added to illustrate life in times past.

The presence of the crucifix, found broken in the rubble, and now carefully preserved in the present chancel, takes time back probably to the earliest Christian era in Britain, to the fourth century, when Christianity was adopted as the religion of the Roman Empire, and when the most solemn rite at that time was the erection of the Cross with prayer wherever a church was to be built. The fact that the body on the Crucifix appears to have a long garment, gives it a much earlier date than those with the body almost denuded. A still stronger mark of its early date is that the hair is Byzantine in its arrangement. This goes back to the Yorkshireman, Constantine the Great, who made his capital city, Byzantium, a "city of churches and crucifixes," and who sent over skilled Byzantine workmen to Britain to instruct his countrymen in all the civilization of the East. The structure that would be erected at this time as a place of worship would be like the one at Glastonbury, the walls of which were made of twigs twisted together, the roof being of straw, hay, or rushes.

To go on into Anglo-Saxon times, we learn from Canon Raine in his "Dedications of the Yorkshire Churches" (Archæological Journal), that the ascription of the Church at Kirkburton was to Allhallows. The village feast is in almost certain connection with the name-day of the church, and it may account for so many Anglo-Saxon churches having been dedicated to Allhallows or All Saints, that the festival of Halloween on October 31st was the favourite feast-time of the people, and the opportunity would then be taken of consecrating the church, when most parishioners were present. Why the Kirkburton village feast was changed to Trinity or Midsummer will be seen with the change of dedication in Norman times. The Saxon church would be a more durable one than the early British; the foundation and lower walls would be built of stone, and the upper walls and roofing of timber. The man who built it must have been the possessor of at least 200 acres (present measure of land); and for the maintenance of the minister and to enable him to be a freeman, the donor of the church would also have to give thirty-three Saxon acres as glebe land. This was just the amount of land belonging to and surrounding Kirkburton vicarage till the present century. In return for providing a place of worship for his neighbours, the donor received the rank of thane or noble, and became the patron of the church living. The tithes were the offerings of the other people, as their share towards the performance of religious worship. As the King of England owned 360 acres in the village of Kirkburton, it is not at all improbable but that the Saxon church at Kirkburton was built by the King.

In the compilation of Domesday, very few churches comparatively are mentioned, and this will probably be due to the fact that many of the county churches were accounted only as "chapels of ease" to a mother church. Kirkburton was one of the nine daughters of Dewsbury parish church, the others being Wakefield, Halifax, Bradford, Huddersfield, Mirfield, Thornhill, Almondbury and Kirkheaton; and of all these, Kirkburton still pays the highest amount, £4 per annum, as altarage, to the mother church of Dewsbury.

The reference to Kirkburton in Domesday is here recorded: "To the Manor of Wakefield belongs the soke of these lands (or, payment to the lord for using his lands); Criggleston ten oxgangs, Bretton one carucate, Horbury two carucates and seven oxgangs, Osset three carucates and a half, Heaton one carucate, Stanley three carucates, Shitlington six oxgangs, Emley three carucates, Cartworth six carucates, Burton three carucates, Shepley two carucates, Shelley one carucate, Cumberworth one carucate, Crosland one carucate. In all there are to be taxed thirty carucates, which twenty ploughs may till. They are now waste, except in Criggleston and Horbury, were there are four sokemen and one villane, and three bordars, with four ploughs, and in Osset four villanes and three bordars, with two ploughs. Besides these there are to be taxed two carucates in Holne and another Holne, and Austonley and Thong. One plough may till this land. It is waste; wood here and there. Some say this is thane land; others, in the soke of Wakefield." It was of great importance at that time to be a dweller on the King's land, for his tenants were free from paying toll for their merchandise and other goods; in return, they ploughed the King's lands and did other work towards the maintenance of his freehold.

William the First divided conquered England into 700 great baronies and bestowed them on those who had helped him, reserving to himself those lands that had belonged to his predecessors, Edward the Confessor and Harold II. King William's kinsman, both by birth and marriage, William de Warenne, received lands in no less than twelve counties; in Yorkshire, the great lordship of Coningsburgh, including twenty-eight towns and hamlets, was given to him. His other castles were Lewes in Sussex, Reigate in Surrey and Castle Acre in Norfolk. William de Warenne and his wife Gundreda, daughter of the Conqueror, founded the Cluniac Priory of Lewes, close by their castle, and in connection with the Church of St. Pancras. (Charters, etc., in Sir Geo. F. Duckett's Paper on Gundreda, Archæological Journal). The Countess died at Castle Acre on May 27th, 1085, and was buried in Lewes Priory. The Earl de Warenne died on June 24th, 1088, and was buried, at his request, by the side of his wife. The day of the Earl's death, June 24th, St. John the Baptist's day, is the name-day of the present Kirkburton church.

King William Rufus gave his manor of Wakefield to William, second Earl of Warenne, between 1091 and 1097 ; and this Earl seems to have at once settled his ecclesiastical affairs by putting all the churches on his lands into the possession and patronage of the monks of Lewes Priory, where his father and mother lay buried. By this arrangement he made the monks responsible for the service of the churches, whilst they in return received the tithes for their maintenance. It is most probable that the second Earl de Warenne had the church at Kirkburton rebuilt, and rededicated to St. John the Baptist in memory of his father's death on that day. The old west Norman door may have belonged to this structure.

The charter of William, 2nd Earl of Warren, confirming his gift of Yorkshire churches to the monks of Lewes Priory, is here appended:

"Sciant presentes et futuri quod ego Willielmus comes de Warren dono concedo et hac presenti carta mea confirmo Deo et Sancto Pancratio de Lewes et monachis ibidem Deo servientibus pro salute anime mee et Willielmi patris mei et omnium successorum nostrorum ecclesiam de Conningburgh cum ecclesiis capellis terris et decimis et omnibus ad eas pertinentibus scilicet ecclesiam de Braythewell cum pertinentiis ecclesiam de Donigthon cum pert. ecclesiam de Herthill cum pert. ecclesiam de Fislak cum pert. ecclesiam de Hetfeld cum capella de Torne et omnibus pert. ecclesiam de Parva Sandale cum capella de Hernoldesthorp cum omnibus pert. ecclesiam etiam de Wakefeld cum capella de Horbyry et omnibus pert. suis ecclesiam de Halyfax cum omnibus pert. suis ecclesiam de Dewesbyry cum capella de Hertesheved et omnibus pert. suis ecclesiam de Birton cum pert. suis ecclesiam de Majori Sandale cum omnibus pert. suis. "Hiis testibus Radulpho de Waren, Hugone de Petroponte, Radulpho de Playz, Rob. de Frivele, Reginaldo de Waren, Adam de Poning, Gwyd de Mencecourt, Willielmo de Drossio et multis aliis."

In Archbishop Gray's Register, 1215-1255, there are three notices of Kirkburton.

"cxxxiii. Cawood 9 Kal. Feb. xiv. Collation by lapse of Jordan de Hampton, clerk, to the mediety of the church of Birton, which Richard de Birstall held, reserving the pension due to the Prior and Convent of Lewes."

"CLXXV. 7 id Aug. xv. Collation of Jordan de Hampton, clerk, to a moiety of the church of Burton which has come to us by lapse. No prejudice to be caused thereby to the Prior and Convent of Lewes or any one claiming patronage therein."

"CCCCLIV. Upton, 5 Kal. Martii xxii. Institution of Wm. de London, clerk, to a mediety of the church of Birton, at the presentation of the Prior and Convent of Leus. Salva pensione."

In Taylor's "Rectory Manor of Wakefield" the extract is given from an account of Dewsbury by Sir Henry Ellis that "in the year 1266, John, Earl of Warren, presented William de London to this Church (of Dewsbury); but the Prior and Convent of Lewes exhibiting the instruments which they had received from the ancestors of the said Earl, by which it appeared that they were possessed of the right of presentation, the said Earl remitted his claim on the Feast of the Blessed Virgin, Dec. 8th, 1265, and in January following, W. Prior and the Convent of St. Pancras, Lewes, presented W. de Redemeld to this church."

In Kirkby's Inquest, 13 Edw. I. 1284-5, Birton is stated to belong to Willelmus filius Thomæ de Birton, Chelueley or Shelley to Henricus de Shelueley, Shepley to Johannes de Shepley. Thirwistanland, Cumbrewode, Floketon, Quik, Osset, Horbury, Staneley, Normanton, Alcotes all belong to the Comes Warrenni.

John de Warren, the 8th and last Earl, died on June 30, 1347, on his 61st birthday, and was buried in the Abbey Church of Lewes with his forefathers. Leaving no issue, all his lands fell into the possession of the Crown.

In 1425, Robert Bever was promoted from the Vicarage of Kirkburton to that of Wakefield at which place he died in 1437. He had been Vicar of Kirkburton from 1406.

It is purposed in volumes II and III of these Registers to publish a few particulars of each family.

The first date written in the Registers is the "Miiiii° quadragesimo sc̃do" above entry no. 99. That the previous twelve months, of which only the names of the months are given, belong to 1540-2, or to a still earlier date, can only be conjectured.

More than three thousand entries have been recovered by a search in the Registry Office at York. There are very few Registers there from any place in Yorkshire before 1600, and none from Kirkburton.

Note.—In the Valor Ecclesiasticus, temp. Henry VIII, the name of Thomas Wordsworth is given as Incumbent of the Chantry of St. Nicholas in Kirkburton Church. Christopher Carter was at the same time Incumbent of the Chantry of the Blessed Mary, also in the same Church. At the east end in the south aisle in Kirkburton Church would be the altar to St. Nicholas, which had been founded by the lords of the Manor of Shelley ; the altar on the north side of the Church, east end, belonged to the lords of the Manor of Burton. A Chantry was a Chapel with an endowment for a priest to sing masses for the soul of the founder. The Chantry priests were also the Schoolmasters of the place.

Inquisition taken at Barnsley 19 H. VII. (1503-4).

Note.—William Goldthorpe died lord of the Manor of Shepley, Goldthorpe, Billingley, Bolton and Barnborough. His ancestry may be traced by extracts from Dr. Morehouse's History of Kirkburton; from Dodsworth's Yorkshire Notes, compiled by Alfred S. Ellis, Esq., and from Watson's Halifax.

In 1361, William de Shepley was in ward to Jennet, wife of William Storthes. William de Shepley married and had two daughters, Isabell and Dionysia, co-heiresses. Isabell married Robert de Goldthorp, of Goldthorp, near Barnsley. Dionysia married Thomas Stone, and the manor and estates of Shepley were divided between the two families. Isabell and Robert de Goldthorpe had a son named Thomas; Dionysia and Thomas Stone had a son named William. Thomas Goldthorp, the son of Isabell, in 1419, married Alice, daughter of Laurence Kaye, of Woodsome; his cousin, William Stone, is said to have married another daughter of Laurence Kaye's. In 1424-5, William de Schepley, the grandfather, let to farme to Thomas de Goldthorp his Manor of Schepley, &c. Alice Kaye and Thomas de Goldthorp had several children, the eldest being John, who in 1456, married Elizabeth or Alice, the daughter of Thomas Savile, of Hulleuedge, the second son of Henry Savile and Ellen, daughter of Thomas Copley, of Copley. Thomas Storthes, the grandfather of the Gervase Storthes, of the Kirkburton Registers, married Ellen, another daughter of Thomas Savile, of Hullenedge, and his wife Anne, dau. of John Stansfield. In 1484, John Goldthorp's name appears in a charter in which the four witnesses are all related to each other. "Richard Symmes & Hugh Bosevile, Rafe Dodworth & Rafe Barnby delivered and confirmed to Robert Birton, son & heire apparent of John Birton & Jone his wife, one of the daughters of William Symmes lately deceased, their manor of North Crossland & the rent of 4s. going out of the Land of John Meathley of Horbury with the appurtenances in Ryley in the tenure of Oliver Lockwood, & the Note.—On the next page of the Registers, in the handwriting of the writer of the Entries from Nos. 172—321, the following maxims are recorded.

He that wyste what it were commyng to lerne and it to (speede)
He wolde never myspend one oure. Therefore my sonne take heede.

O Dives, Dives non omni tempore vives
Fac bene dum vives post mortem vivere si vis.

Labor improbus omnia vincit.
Non cuivis accidit ad (ire Corinthum).

The Bidding Prayer to be repeated before the Sermon (or Bidding of the Beads, as it was then called), is also written out on this page. The sentence " our moste holie father the pope wyt all his true college of cardenalls" is crossed out (in different ink) in the original, and the erasure will most probably have been made by the Archbishop of York, Robert Holgate, during the Visitation of his Diocese in 1546, the year after his appointment to the northern See. By the king's command in 1543, a new form of oath in renunciation of the Pope and in acknowledgment of the King's Supremacy had to be taken in the future by all Bishops on their installation, and Archbishop Holgate was the first who took it. (Wilkinson's Worthies of Barnsley, p. 278.) By the words "I shall never consent nor agree that the See and Bishop, or any of their successors, shall practise exercise, or have any manner of authority, jurisdiction, or power, within this realm, or any other the King's realms or dominions," the bishops bound themselves to carry out a former Injunction of the king published in 1537 "to gyve like warnying, monition and charge, to all abbots, priors, deanes, arche deacons, provosts, parsons, vicars, curats, scolemasters, and all other ecclesiastical persons within their dioces, to do the semblable in their churches, every Sunday and solemn feast, and also in their scoles; and to cause all maner of prayers, orisons, rubrics, and canons in masse books, and all other books used in churches, wherein the said bishop is named, utterly to be abolished, eradicate, and rased out in such wise, as the said bishop of Rome, his name and memorie for evermore (except to his contumelly and reproche) may be extinct, suppressed and obscured."

Bidding Prayer.

"Yow shalt pray for the whole congregatyon of Xrystes churche where soere it be dyspersed thorought out all the worlde & especyally for this churche of England & Hyreland wherein I cômend unto your devout prayer our moste holie father the pope wyt all his true college of cardenalls & for all archebyschopes byschopes parsons vicars & curates who hayth cure and charge of soules & especyally for the vicar & curat of this churche whoe haythe cure & charge of youre soules" . . . .

That for nine years the Vicar here should not have obeyed the King's Injunction shows how slowly changes were made or enforced then in remote villages in the "north country."

According to White's Annals of Leeds and York: "In 1558, the Quartan Ague, and a 'new sickness' raged so violently, that, together with the fire and sword, (Queen Mary's reign) the third part of the men of England are said to have been consumed. At Rothwell, near Leeds, the burials increased from 20 to 76."

Note.—The name of this John Tyas of Oxlee in Hepworth, Kirkburton parish, appears in the Will of his kinsman the Rev. John Tyas, (or Sir John Tyas, as he was then called), the Rector of Treeton and Vicar of Ecclesfield, whose death took place in 1580. His Will is given in full in Gatty's published Registers of Ecclesfield parish, and in it he leaves "to Burton parish xxx^{s} Penistone xx^{s} Sheffield xx^{s}." It may have been that Burton was his native parish, and that on that account he left the larger sum to it. Amongst many other items in his most interesting Will occur "To John Tyas wife of Thoxlee a Flanders bed cover with images and my feather bed at Ecclesfield. To my servant Henry Lastles for his true service done all that my said messuage in Thurnscoe during his life, with remainder to his sons John and Edward jointly and to their heirs for ever, yielding yearly as above (an annual rent of 28^{s} to the use of the poor &c.), with remainder to the right heirs of John Tyas of Thoxlee. I make my cousin Robert Tyas, Thomas Greaves of Tickhill, Sir Thomas Cuthbert, John Tyas of Thoxlee and Ralph Croft my executors and I give each of them 20^{s}, and all my debts on condition that they pay to Isabel Tyas daughter of my brother John Tyas £4."

John Tyas had been instituted Vicar of Ecclesfield-cum-Bradfield in 1549, and Rector of Treeton in 1555,—holding both livings; but at the time of his death in 1580, Edward Hatfield was his 'fellow' Vicar of Ecclesfield.

2373 Edit Trigot filia Bartholomei Trigot de Kirkbe armiger sepulta fuit primo die Julii in eodem an^o (1567°).

Note.—Bartholomew Trigott was, at this time, Lord of the Manor of Kirkburton in descent from his grandmother Joan, only child and heiress of Robert de Burton. In 1503, the year before her father's death, Joan de Burton married Thomas Trigott, the son of Thomas Trigott, of South Kirkby, and his wife Joan, the daughter of John Sothill of Sothill (a marriage that would bring into connection Henry Sothill, the Vicar of Kirkburton, with the Lord of the Manor of Kirkburton). Thomas Trigott and Joan de Burton had a son Robert who married Jane daughter of Sir John Wentworth of Elmsall, the grandson of John Wentworth and his wife Elizabeth Calverley. This John Wentworth was the elder brother of Richard Wentworth of Bretton who married Maud, the widowed Countess of Cambridge, the second daughter of Thomas, Lord Clifford. Her first husband was Richard Plantagenet, Earl of Cambridge, the grandson of Edward III. She died in 1446.

Bartholomew Trigott, the eldest son of Robert Trigott and Jane Wentworth, was born in 1525, and died at South Kirkby in 1597, aged 70. He married 1st Isabel daughter of John Anne of Frickly, and had by her two daughters ; Jane who married Thomas Candy of Brayton, and Katherine who, in 1569, married Thomas Holgate, Lord of the Manor of Stapleton, the son of Thomas Holgate of Pontefract, the nephew and heir of Archbishop Holgate. In April, 1601, Thomas Holgate of Stapleton made his Will a few days before his death. He desired to be buried in the church of Darrington "nyghe unto the place where the bodye of my most lovinge and faithfull wief (Katherine Trigott who had died in 1587) lyeth as convenientlie may be (yf the Lord hath soe appointed that I die within the parishe) that as wee agreed together lyvinge, soe our bodies may in the earth reste together untill the joyfull daie of our resurrection." Their children were George, Bartholomew, Francis, Lucie, and Anne. George died without issue in 1623. Bartholomew, the 2nd son, had been living at East Ardsley of which place his name appears as Churchwarden in 1614 in the copy of Registers at York. He succeeded his brother George as Lord of Stapleton, but soon afterwards sold his interest in that Manor to Sir John Savile of Howley, who, in 1628, became Baron Savile of Pontefract and continued Lord of Stapleton till his death in 1630, when he bequeathed Stapleton to his daughter Anne, the widow of Pierce Leigh.

Archbishop Robert Holgate, (born in 1487, dead in 1555,) and his brothers John, Edward and Henry were the sons of Thomas Holgate, and his wife Elizabeth

Champernowne. The elder brother John married Annabella the daughter of Richard Beaumont of Whitley Beaumont; the younger brother Henry, of Clayton, was the father of the Thomas Holgate of Pontefract who was appointed his heir by his uncle the Archbishop of York. Thomas Holgate of Pontefract married, as his second wife, Mary, daughter and heiress of Henry Power of Beverley, whose dowry was the Stapleton estate, which descended to her eldest son, Thomas Holgate, who married Katherine Trigott. On the tombstone, in the chancel of Darrington Church, of Thomas Holgate of Stapleton and his wife Katherine Trigott of Kirkburton, there is a good low relief of the Arms of Holgate (three bulls' heads, erased) impaling those of Trigott (a chevron between three cross crosslets, two and one.)

By his first marriage, Thomas Holgate of Pontefract had a son Henry who inherited the Pontefract estate. He left a widow, Katherine, and in her Will proved in 1602, she mentions her son William and his wife Jane. In 1619, William Holgate of Pontefract, Gent. made his Will. After this time, the Holgate family, together with other well-known Roman Catholic families, appear to have suffered severely by the imposition of heavy fines as 'Popish Recusants'; the fine enforced being £20 for every month's absence from a Protestant Church. George Holgate of Brierley, the son of Francis, third son of Thomas Holgate and Katherin Triggott, in 1665 was returned as being 'contumacious,' that is for not having appeared before the Herald to register his arms and pedigree and to pay the fees; and, a little later on, the same George Holgate and Anne his wife, Robert Holgate and Anne and Mary Holgate, all of Brierley, were charged with being recusants and not attending church and punished accordingly. George Holgate died in 1683. It was probably his daughter Jane, who married, as his second wife, Matthew Morris of Elmsall, the father of the brave Colonel Morris who lost his life in connection with the siege of Pontefract Castle in 1649. Jane is described as the daughter of George Holgate of Grimethorpe, a hamlet belonging to and one mile south of Brierley. Grimethorpe Hall is now an ancient mansion which formerly had a small Roman Catholic Chapel attached to it. In 1683 and 1689 the name of William Holgate of Sawley Manor, near Ripon, occurs in the published Lists of Recusants. In the loss of worldly possessions the Roman Catholics suffered as heavily at this time as the Protestants had done in the persecution under Queen Mary.

Bartholomew Triggott of Kirkburton married, for his second wife, Lucy daughter of Edward Booth of Cranswick and, by her had Thomas, who married Anne daughter of Thomas Reresby of Thribergh, near Rotherham. By this marriage he became connected with the Horsfalls of Storthes Hall. Thomas Triggott and Anne Reresby had three daughters, the youngest of whom, Lucy, married, in 1624, Sir John Digby of Mansfield Woodhouse. The eldest daughter Anne Triggott married Thomas Thornhill of Fixby, and had John who, in 1658, married Everilda daughter of Sir George Wentworth of Woolley; Elizabeth, who married Langdale Sunderland; and Margaret, who married Sir John Armytage of Kirklees, the fourth Baronet. In the partition of the estate after the death of their father, Thomas Triggott, the Manor of Burton was allotted to Elizabeth, the second daughter. She married John Moseley, Alderman of York, and died in 1640 aged 50 years, leaving two daughters, co-heiresses; the elder daughter, Margaret, married Sir John Kaye of Woodsome, the ancestor of the present Sir John Lister Kaye of Denby-Grange. The Manor of Burton remained in the Kaye family till 1827 when it was sold. Authorities, Morehouse's History of Kirkburton; Mr. Richard Holmes of Pontefract.

Roger Naulson wrote the above eleven entries on three different pages, evidently wishing the Burials, Baptisms and Marriages to be kept distinct from each other; but the parish clerk reverted to the old plan of writing down the events as they happened.

Note.—The will of Umfray Armitage of Kirkburton, husbandman, dated 28 March, 1567, was proved 2 March, 1568-9. He mentions "my wife Margaret (No. 1742), my sons Robert (No. 1805), John (No. 2023) and Thomas (No. 2255); Elizabeth Shaye, my wife's daughter;—to John Armitage, my servant my wedding Jackett, one dublet and one paire of hose." He appoints his "faithfull friend and Mr. John Kay of Woodsom esquyer" to be Supervisor. His wife Margaret had probably been the widow (No. 439) of Roger Shaye the elder, who died during the plague time in 1559, as well as did three of their children (No. 1583). Her daughter Elizabeth (No. 782) was born in 1550.

'His faithful friend and master, John Kay of Woodsom,' was the eldest son of Arthur Kay and Beatrice Wentworth. He purchased Burton Mlll, and the rent and suit of Court of Thomas Storthes who succeeded his father Jervis Storthes of Storthes Hall in 1573 (No. 3011).

'To John Armitage—my wedding Jackett,'—it must have been at least eight years old (as Humphrey had been married in 1560), and betokens substantial material.

Note.—A Chrisom child was one that died within a month of having the chrisom or white linen garment, put upon it by the priest at baptism; it would then be buried in its chrisom instead of the mother returning it to the church at the time of her thanksgiving. According to the Roman Catholic custom, as soon as the priest had baptized the child, he would place upon it the chrisom, saying in Latin the words which have been thus translated, "Take this white vesture for a token of the innocency which by God's grace in this holy sacrament of Baptism is given unto thee; and for a sign whereby thou art admonished, so long as thou livest, to give thyself to innocency of living, that after this transitory life, thou mayst be partaker of the life everlasting." The priest would then anoint the child on the crown of the head with the chrism, the consecrated olive oil and balsam.

This entry shows that notwithstanding its being the tenth year of a Protestant Queen's rule, the people in the North of England still followed Romish practices. In London, by the third year of Elizabeth's reign, the Reformed English Church had entirely given up the use of prayers in a foreign tongue, lighted tapers, oil (chrism), exorcisms (blowing away the Evil Spirit), &c.; but in the North of England, they were years behind hand in giving up superstitions. In the Note after entry 321 of these Registers, it will be seen that it was nine years at least after the King's Ordinance of Royal Supremacy had been issued, that the first Protestant Archbishop of York, Robert Holgate, in the primary Visitation of his Diocese, found that the Pope was still being prayed for in Kirkburton Church. Twenty-five years afterwards, in 1570—Edmund Grindal, having left his Bishopric of London to become Archbishop of York, wrote to the Queen's Secretary his opinion of the state of religion in his new Diocese. He found the greater part of the clergy in the North opposed to the Reformation, and amongst both clergy and laity "great ignorance, much dulness to conceive better instructions, and great stiffness to retain their wonted errors. They keep holy days and fasts; they offer money, eggs, &c., at the burial of their dead; they pray on beads; so that this seems to be as it were another church, rather than a member of the rest."

The Will was proved 2 Oct. 1572.

2869. The viii day of Aprell vas Mr. Jhon Kay of Shellay buryyd.

Note.—Mr. John Kaye was the son of Thomas Kaye of Huddersfield and Dalton, who, in 1529, at the taking of the King's Subsidy, was, with Arthur Pilkington, one of the two chief men in the district of Huddersfield ; they both paid 40s for £40 lands or goods,—the next in rank, John Hirst of the Greynhed for £16 goods, paid 8s. "Thomas Kay of Hudresfeld in the county of Yorke marchant gave to John Kay of Dalton his sonne one messuage in Hudresfeld &c. Witnesse Wm Feney, of Feney (Hall), John Hanson &c. Dated 34. Henry 8-(1542)."

"John Byron Esq. son of John Byron Kt. gave to John Kay of Dalton one acre & one rood of land in Hodresfeld. Dated 2 & 3 Ph. & Mary. (1555)." In less than twenty years John Byron sold his Manor &c. of Huddersfield for £700 and took up his residence at Newstead.

Mr. John Kay married Jone the youngest of the three daughters, co-heiresses, of William Dodworth of Shelley by his wife, Jone, daughter of Sir Thomas Wortley, Kt.; it was in consequence of this marriage that John Kaye of Dalton came to reside in Shelley Old Hall. As the Escheat taken on the death of the above William Dodworth describes his estate in this parish, it is here appended in full.

Escheat 9 Oct 4. Henry 8. (1512).

"The Jurors say that William Dodworth died seised of 3 Messuages, 50 acres of land, 12 acres of meadow, 20 acres of pasture and 12 acres of wood with the appurtenances in Shelley in the county of Yorke and also of one bovate of land in Shelley aforesaid in his demesne as of fee. And likewise of one messuage, 37 acres of land, 4 acres of meadow, 40 acres of pasture and 4 acres of wood with the appurtenances in High Burton in the county aforesaid. And also of 5 messuages, 60 acres of land, & 8 acres of meadow with the appurtenances in Dodworth in the county aforesaid. And likewise of 7 messuages, 200 acres of land, 20 acres of meadow, 40 acres of pasture and 4 acres of wood with the appurtenances in North Crossland in ye county aforesaid in his demesne as of fee. And also of one messuage, 24 acres of land, 5 acres of meadow, 2 acres of wood with the appurtenances in Thurstonland in the same county. And likewise of 2 messuages in Heton in the county aforesaid, called Lascey Hall, 60 acres of land, 16 acres of meadow, 3 acres of wood with the appurtenances in Heton of the yearly valew of six markes in his demesne as of fee. And likewise of one messuage, 37 acres of land, 4 acres of meadow and 4 acres of wood with the appurtenances in High Burton in the said county. And also of 4 messuages, ... acres of land, 1 acre of meadow, 4 acres of wood with the appurtenances in Barnsley and Ardsley in ye county aforesaid in his demesne as of fee. And likewise of one messuage, 60 acres of land, 8 acres of meadow, 16 acres of pasture, and 4 acres of wood in Barsland in the same county. And allso one capitall messuage called Gilber Hall in Bargh in the said county. And of 80 acres of land & 20 acres of meadow, 24 acres of pasture and 6 acres of wood with the appurtenances in the towne of Bargh.

And the Jurors say the foresaid messuage called Lascey Hall is holden of John Everingham in soccage, &c., and they say the foresaid William died the 20 day of February last past (1511-12). And that Ann Dodworth, Margaret Dodworth and Jane Dodworth are daughters and next heirs of the foresaid William. And that Anne at the taking of this Inquisition was of the age of 13 yeares & more, the foresaid Margaret 11 yeares & the forsaid Jone was of the age of 9 yeares and more."

Anne Dodworth married John Jenkynson of Gawbard Hall, yeoman. Margaret married John Harryson of Woolley, gentleman; and Jane married John Kaye of Dalton, gentleman, as already said. She would be aged 69 if alive at the death of her husband in 1752. Their son, John Kaye of Oakenshaw, married, first, Jane daughter of John Storthes of Storthes Hall and had by her seven children, three sons and seven daughters—of whom Robert was his heir. After his father's death, John Kaye of Oakenshaw sold his manor of Shelley and built Heath Hall near Wakefield. At this time, Sir Henry Savile of Thornhill was High Steward of the Honor of Pontefract, and John Kaye of Heath was his under-steward, and he married, for his second wife, as is said, Dorothy, Sir Henry Savile's only daughter. Her mother, Lady Elizabeth Savile, was the daughter of Thomas Soothill of Soothill, a connection of Henry Soothill's, the Vicar of Kirkburton. The assembly of Godparents at a christening of a son of Gervas Storthes in January, 1566-7—(no : 1360 in Kirkburton Registers) brings these names together.

In 1568, when Grace Charlesworth of Totties, Holmfirth, was married to John Savile of Wath, John Kaye of Dalton, his son John Kaye of Okenshaw, and Robert Allott of Bentley were enfeoffed in half the Manor of Dalton, settled upon the marriage. Margaret, one of the four sisters of Grace Charlesworth, married, for her second husband, George Kaye of Woodsome, the second son of Arthur Kaye.

That Thomas Kaye of Dalton, "the merchant of Huddersfield," belonged to the Woodsome family is known by his son John Kaye of Dalton having the Woodsome Coat-of-arms, argent, 2 bendlets sable, confirmed to him by Norroy, King of Arms in 1564—with the comment that he was 'descended of a house longe tyme bearing armes.' The fact that Sir Thomas Wortley the grandfather of Jone, wife of John Kaye, owned land at Shelley is mentioned in the Note to Entry 57 in this volume.

William Dodworth who married Jone Wortley was one of seven sons of Randolph Dodworth and Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Bosvile who had another daughter Margaret married to William Simmes of Barnsley whose daughter Joan married Robert last Lord of Burton.

Randolph Dodworth was the son of William Dodworth who married Cecilia, one of the three daughters, co-heiresses, of John Lascelles of Lascelles Hall, Kirkheaton; Joan Lascelles married Henry Beaumont; Margaret Lascelles married John Freston of Altofts. The reference to Lascey or Lascelles Hall in the Escheat taken on William Dodworth's death in 1512 is explained by this marriage of his grandfather.—Yorks Arch. Journal, Morehouse's Hist. of Kirkburton.

Note. In 1555, in the reign of Philip and Mary, the Act was passed providing that each parish should elect two Surveyors of Highways to see to the maintenance of their repairs by compulsory labour ; and, to this day, parish and cross roads are maintained on the principle of Queen Mary's Act, though the compulsory labour has since been commuted into a compulsory tax. Until the middle of the 18th century, the roads in Yorkshire consisted of narrow lanes, fitted only for the transit of pack-horses. In 1583, when the stone stairs or 'Griece on the west syde of the bridge at Ledes' were built, the labourers' wages were sixpence a day; the item in the K.B. Churchwardens' Accounts for 1581—"the repracions of church walle—one man fourpence," shows the wage in a country village for about the same year.

Note.—The Plague again depopulated Kirkburton parish even more severely then it had done thirty years before. Twenty burials in October,and thirty-one in November are here registered—the death rate continuing high for three months longer. In Leeds, according to White's Annals, "the burials were tripled this year, 1587 ; and in Rothwell, in the following year, they increased from 34 to 127. The plague was still more prevalent in this neighbourhood in 1596,"—in which latter year it appears again to have been the cause of increasing the burials in Kirkburton.

Dionis Mathewman, baptized in 1571 (No. 2814) was the daughter of Richard, whose sister Alice in 1563 (No. 2018) married Edward Green. It was John (No. 6400), the second son of this marriage, who was the ancestor of the Hatfield Kaye who in 1772 married the sister of the Earl of Strafford, of Wentworth Castle. In 1589 (No. 4660), Peter Brooke married Elizabeth Green, the daughter (No. 2074), of the John Green and Elizabeth Brooke mentioned in the above extract from the Wakefield Manor Court Roll. May 22. "I sold two loads of shilling to Sam Beardsall for 20s a load, to be fetched before Wednesday next at night, or els hee not to have them." June 30. Fast.—"This day I sold Sam Beardsall 2 loads of shilling, and received from him £1 19s. 3d., and after went to church." Note.—From August, 1642, to the surrender of Pontefract Castle in March, 1649 the West Riding had to suffer all the horrors of a Civil War—members of a family not unfrequently taking opposite sides, and meeting on the battlefield in a death or life contest. Besides the devastation caused by these frequent encounters, the country was afflicted with the Plague which carried off thousands who were not taking actual part in the Civil War. These Registers tell the tale of loss and sorrow in every family in Kirkburton parish. White's Annals give particulars of this time in Leeds, "the troubles of which town were now greatly aggravated by the plague, which raged from March, 1644, to December, 1645, so that the streets were grass-grown, and the markets removed to Woodhouse. So infectious was this pestilence, that 1325 persons became its victims. 'Birds fell down dead in their flight over the town,' and divine service was suspended. This plague extended to Wakefield, where it also committed dreadful ravages."

(Mr.) Clark Clerck was appoynted by ordinance of Parliament of ye 14th of March 1642-3 to officiate as viccar in ye church of Kirkburton, & to receive ye profitts of the said viccaridge for his paynes till further order be taken [by both] houses of Parliament.

Note.—This entry is in Mr. Clark's own handwriting, and all the entries from May 1645 till May 3, 1646, in which the word the is written ye, were also written by him.

The elder clergy were, for the most part, loyal to King and Church, and refused to sign "the Solemn League and Covenant," which did away with Bishops and the Prayer Book and introduced the Presbyterian form of Government. In February, 1643, the Parliament passed an Ordinance for the sequestration of the revenues of bishops, deans and all other delinquents, to be employed in the defence of the Commonwealth; and rather than give up their principles, 8,000 of the Clergy of the Church of England were ejected from their livings; and Ministers like Mr. Daniel Clark were appointed to take their places. There was an order that the ejected clergyman should have a fifth of his benefice for the maintenance of himself and his family, and houseroom in the parsonage. Many Royalist clergymen were turned at once out of house and home, and persecuted to death. Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker appear to have stayed in K.B. Vicarage for nine months longer.

Mr. Whitaker then gave himself up, and was carried off by them to Manchester, where he died in a fortnight of grief and ill-usuage."—Morehouse's Hist. of KB., page 24.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, September, 1873, in an interesting resumé on a visit to the burial-ground of the Manchester Cathedral, refers in the following terms to the resting-place of Gamaliel Whitaker, Vicar of Kirkburton. "On the south side of the Cathedral-yard, not far from the tower, a quaintly-cut inscription, of some historical interest, was visible until very recently, but it has now disappeared.

Here lyeth ye body of Gamiliel Whitaker late Vicar of Kirk Burton in Yorkshire,
Who dyed ye first day of February 1643-4.

To these words Mr. Owen has added, in his manuscript book of local epitaphs, an extract from the Register of Burials :—1643-4, Feb. 1st, Gamaliel Whittaker, preacher of ye Word of God, Deceased at Widow Birches."

The preservation of this newspaper extract is due to the care of the Rev. Canon Hulbert of Almondbury.

"There is also a tradition which reports that when the soldiers were on their way to Burton, they called upon Mr. Firth of Shepley Hall (No. 5771) to go along with them to direct them to the vicarage. This he was unwilling to do, but was compelled to join them, and accordingly he had to mount on horseback behind one of the troopers. On their way, he, however, seized a favourable opportunity, and slipped off the horse, and took refuge in an adjoining wood, and thus freed himself from their unwelcome company."

Morehouse's Hist. of KB., p. 24.

As a link between that time and this, the kindness is noted of the valued gift by Jackson Armitage, Esq., the present owner of Shepley Hall, to the present Vicar of Kirkburton's wife, of the massive old oak nail-studded door at which these Parliamentarian soldiers must have knocked when they summoned the then owner of Shepley Hall to conduct them to Kirkburton Vicarage.

Mrs. Whitaker (Hester Marshall) was sister to the wife of Thomas Wentworth of Elmsall, whose sister Anne married Sir Richard Hawksworth of Hawksworth ; a grand-daughter of this marriage, Anne Lister, married Sir John Kaye of Woodsome Hall.

In addition to the very interesting account given of the Rev. Gamaliel Whitaker in Dr. Morehouse's History of Kirkburton, his name occurs in Banks' History of Wakefield, page 451.

"1612, July 29.—Maister Thomas Middleton of London, Esq. (afterwards Sir Thomas) married with Mistris Margerett Savile, coheir to Mr. Geo. Savile of Wakefield Esq, and he gave at his maryage to yonge Mr. Whittakers that did marry them 40s., and unto Richard Hunte Clarke 5s.

The father of Gamaliel Whitaker had been Rector of Thornhill (where the above marriage took place), till his death there in 1610. His sister Dorothy married Matthew Wentworth of Cawthorne, the second son of Matthew Wentworth of West Bretton and his wife Dorothy (No. 2852 in Kirkburton Registers), one of the daughters and co-heiresses of Richard Charlesworth of Totties in Kirkburton Parish.
